It was 75x100 feet in dimensions. The contents included machinery and tools, stock, completed and in the course of construction, and patterns and drafts. Mr. Charles D. Jenney, vice president of the company, estimates the loss on tools and machinery at $30,000; on stock, $40,000, and on patterns and drafts. $5,000. This makes a total of $85,000, according to Mr. Jenney's estimate. He says | provements will be completed by wheat that the company had a larger demand for | harvest. During the last year five thousand dollars' worth of new machinery had been placed in the building, and only a few days ago a two-thousand-dollar machine was added and another valuable machine had only just arrived and was not yet put in place. Among the products destroyed was the electric plant for the new Stevenson building. This was in the course of construction and was well under way. To cover the heavy loss there was insurance only to the extent of $26,000, of which $6,000 was on the building, placed through John Wocher, and $20,000 on stock and machinery, placed through the agencles of Gregory & Appel and the Union Trust Company. A detailed statement of the insurance follows:

How It Will Affect Mail Delivery-Correspondents Should State if

In about, a month every house in town the change from the system of fifty to Works vesterday awarded the contract to Fertig & Keevers at the rate of $60 : thousand are to be delivered within ten days and the others are to be delivered at the rate of one thousand a day thereafter. The number plate chosen is of black Japanned tin, with figures and border in gold

Owing to the irregularity with which Indianapolis, outside of the original squareit would be safe to say that the new number may be ascertained by doubling the TENNYSON'S: POEMS rule will not hold good in the outer rebe at the Institution for the Deaf and No. 850. Starting west on Washington street from Meridian to the other extremity of town the change is at the same ratio. No. 100 will be at Illinois street, No. 200 at Capitol avenue, No. 500 at West street, formerly No. 250, and so on west. Walking north on Meridian. Pennsylvania, Illinois or any of the old north-andsouth streets the change in numbers will be equally confusing. Many people have calculated in arriving at a number, for instance, that No. 300 would be at North street. North street will be No. 600. When the numerical streets are reached. Tenth street and so on north, it is comparatively straight sailing, as Tenth street is No. 1000. Eleventh street No. 1100, and so on. Leaving Washington street to the north and going south on Meridian or other old streets the same rule prevails. No. 100 will be at Maryland street, No. 200 at Georgia street, etc. McCarty street has long been a landmark for people hunting numbers, who knew that No. 400 was at its corner. The corner of McCarty on Meridian street

There is one thing to be borne in mind, and that is that streets not starting off Washington or Meridian street will not have any one-hundred numbers, but will begin numbering at the number belonging to the street from which they start. For south from Prospect street will begin numbering from 1100, as Prospect street is eleven blocks from Washington street. The first number on old Prospect street will be 1100, as it begins eleven blocks east of Meridian street. It is not the intention to try to point out the innumerable changes, but simply to give a faint idea of those that exist. To add to the confusion, the city directory shows the old house numbers, as the change in the system was not made until after the directory was issued. The ordinance provides that both the old and new numbers on the houses shall remain for a year on this account. Next year the directory will treat of the new numbers and names.

By far the greatest annoyance the publie will suffer will be with regard to the delivery of mail by the letter carriers. James Deery, superintendent of city delivery, has been at work for weeks getting a directory prepared for the use of the carriers showing both the old and new numbers of the houses. Mr. Deery said yesterday that after the new numbers are tacked on the houses. tacked on the houses it would greatly facili-tate the rapidity of delivery if patrons of the postal department carefully instruct their correspondents to use the new num-bers, exercising particular care to place the word "new" before the number given. All letters received, unless thus designated. will be regarded as addressed to the old numbers. This will necessarily make delay in the delivery of the letters. Supposing a letter is simply directed to 400 North Meridian street, the new number being meant, when it ought to be addressed "New 400 North Meridian street," it will be placed in the hands of the carrier delivering mail to the corner of Meridian and St. Clair streets, when it ought to be delivered by the carrier delivering at Meridian and Vermont streets, all because the word "new" was omitted before the number. Mr. Deery said, how-ever, that no changes should be made until after the new number is delivered by the engineer's forces, so that the resident may have the right number when directing his correspondents how to address him It will be a month, at least, before all the number plates are delivered, as there are ily and they are people far above the aver-33,000 houses in town, more or less. For gine house, which stood apart from the this work $3,000 was appropriated. If the number of signs necessary does not exceed $1,980 for the number plates alone.

IMPROVEMENT PROCEEDINGS.

Board of Works Preparing to Get

Much Work Done Early. Although it is still early in the year, the Board of Public Works has started out on a vigorous campaign of new street improvements, and by the time the frost is all out of the ground proceedings will be so far along that a great deal of new improtesting against improvements ordered. Yesterday remonstrances were filed against the resolution for asphalting Market and Ohio streets from East to Noble and Walnut street from Pennsylvania to Massachusetts avenue. The remonstrances have been referred to the engineer to ascertain if a majority of property owners are against the improvements. If this is true it is likely they will be sent to the Council, as the board is anxious to have all downtown streets uniformly improved. In other quarters of town property owners are asking for improvements. A petition for cement sidewalks on Senate avenue from Ohio to St. Clair street was received, as well as a verbal petition for a brick alley between Missouri and West streets, from Washington to Court.

BOARD OF WORKS ROUTINE.

Engineer's Papers Ordered. For cement walks on Detroit avenue from Southeastern avenue to Bates street. CAMPBELL'S QUEER CASE

PREFERRED THE PRISON TO FILL-ING A DRUNKARD'S GRAVE.

Cuba, but Seeing His Blind Wife Deterred Him.

George W. Powell, foreman of the present Campbell, who voluntarily surrendered himself and confessed to the crime of embezzlement, said it was the most peculiar case he had ever known. "During my term as police superintendent." he said, "there were about twelve thousand arrests and in that number there was no case that was as peculiar as this one. I have known Campbell for twenty years and in all my acquaintance with him I have never known that he drank, although he told me to-day age of intelligence. He has one son who the estimate of 33,000, it will cost the city This boy says he will provide for his mother and the family while his father is do so, for he is a hardworking, industrious boy, without a single thing against him." New information in the case makes it one curred in this city. It was recalled yesterday that about two years ago there was there had confessed to the court that he out that the forged check had been given who received it had simply pocketed her loss and said nothing. He could not be convicted for giving the check to this woman for the purpose for which it was given and he was sent to the workhouse to serve the other sentence.

While that case seemed very peculiar at the time the explanation was so soon apparent that comment ceased. In the case of Campbell there is an explanation of his willingness to take his punishment for a crime that was not known and might never have been known, for there were not more than twenty stockholders and they all believed anything Campbell told them. said yesterday in his conversation with Mr. Powell that he talked the matter over at agreed that the course he had taken was the best thing that he could do. His wife went blind in childbirth ten years ago and since that time Campbell has been drinking all the time, although his appearance does not indicate that he was ever intoxicated. He realized that he could not break from the habit of drinking. He thought of going to a Keeley institute, but rejected the idea, Finally he concluded that his stealings had been partly the result of his drinking, and that his drinking had been partly the result of his stealings. He talked the matter over with his wife and son and all concluded that the best way to cure him of drinking would be to allow him to confess to the crime and go to the penetentiary, During the talk with Mr. Powell yesterday Campbell was asked to write to Mr. Powell after being in prison about three months and Mr. Powell would then circugrand jury and the court officials would plied that three months would not cure him of drinking, but that two years would and | ruling sustaining a demurrer to a parahe would stay the entire time out. At the Monkey Show. Professor Wormwood and his aggregation of performing monkeys will close their engagement here to-day with two performances-at 3 o'clock this afternoon and 8 o'clock this evening.

For two weeks the trainer of simians and his pets have been giving an entertainment at Tomlinson Hall which has delighted thousands. Last Saturday there was an audience of three thousand people, and fully two hundred were turned away. Last night 1,500 saw the show, and to-day the largest crowd of all is expected. At both performances to-day Professor Wormwood promises additional attractions. Bo Bo, the lady monkey who talks, will be put through her paces and given an opportunity to illustrate the intricacies of the monkey dialect. It is said that she pos-sesses rather more conversational ability than most of her sex, both simian and hu-The projectoscope will also form an important part of the entertainment. The pictures thrown upon the screen will be selected from the professor's collection and only those which have received the most favor during the past two weeks will be

He Looked for Trouble. Harry Slaven reported to the police last night that he had been assaulted by two men in Dennis Mahan's saloon and his looks did not belie his statement. He was covered with blood. An examination of his wounds showed that they were not of much consequence, Patrolman Wheeler and Jones arrested Slavin and Frank Tyner, the tender, charging them with assault and battery. Typer says Slavin came into the sa-loon looking for trouble and found it.

A Wonderiui Statement

From Mrs. McGillas to Mrs. Pinkham

I think it my duty, dear Mrs. Pinkham, to tell you what your wonderful Compound has done for me. I was dreadfully ill-the doctors said they could cure me but failed to do I gave up in despair and took to my bed. I had dreadful pains in my heart. spells, sparks be fore my and some times I would get so blind, I could not see for several minutes.

I could not stand very long without feeling sick and vomiting. I could not breathe a long breath without screaming, my heart pained so.

I also had female weakness, inflammation of ovaries, painful menstruation, displacement of the womb, itching of the external parts, and ulceration of the womb. I have had all these

The pains I had to stand were something dreadful. My husband told me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, which I did, and after taking it for a while, was cured. No other kind of medicine for me as long as you make Compound. I hope every woman who suffers will take your Compound and be cured .- Mrs. J. S. McGILLAS 113 Kilburn avenue, Rockford, Ill.
